

How to Search for Online Classes

The Schedule of Classes is available at <https://classes.ku.edu> or through the MyKU Portal, and is the best way to search for classes. Before beginning your search be sure the semester is set to the correct term you want to search.

There will always be a set list of courses offered online each semester that are specific for students in the online program. Online students will be given priority enrollment into these courses. However, if there is another online course that fits your requirements you are welcome to take that course, space permitting.

When you find a course you want to enroll in, be sure to note a couple things about the course:

1. Is the course offered online? If you've adjusted your search correctly using the More Options, this should be no problem. However, if you're searching for a course, by course name you may find it has an on-campus section and an online section. To know you've got the online course look for "ONLINE KULC".

If you find a course that indicates "ONLINE KULC-Edwards", do not enroll in this section of the course. If it is a course you need and the Edwards section is the only one open, please contact thecollegeonline@ku.edu and we will get you enrolled in the course you need.

2. Note the meeting dates. Not all online courses are offered in the 8-week format. Those that are will clearly indicate the start and end date for the course. Fall minimesters begin in August and October and Spring minimesters begin in January and March. If you do not see a specific start and end date, it is a full 16-week online course.

- Note the Class #. This is the easiest number to have available when officially enrolling in Enroll and Pay. You can enter this number and Enroll and Pay will be sure to come up with the exact section of the course you want to enroll in without further searching.
